PROPOSED REDUCTION OF TAX ON INCOMES WOULD AFFECT SEVEN AND A HALF MILLIONS

Cuts Almost in Half the Taxes Assessed Against Man of Comfortable Salary—Treasury Department Figures Show 380 Persons in the United States Pay Taxes on Incomes Above $300,000, Despite Fact That Most of Tax is Evaded.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—Seven and a half million persons and corporations are affected by the tax revision proposed by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon. This is an increase of about one million over the returns for 1921 which treasury experts now say cannot be taken as a normal year and that 1922 will show a return to the seven and a half million mark.

Of the seven and a half million, about seven million income tax returns will be affected by the changes proposed for incomes running from $1,000 to $25,000. In order to visualize exactly what the saving is to be, this correspondent obtained from the treasury department today a table showing what the head of a family with two dependent children would pay in incomes ranging from $1,000 to $25,000 which range affects all but five hundred thousand of the seven million and

SHEEP DOGS AGAIN RAID FLOCKS NEAR BLOOMING GROVE

Sheep dogs have again made inroads into flocks of the Blooming Grove vicinity. On Sunday night 22 head belonging to G. P. Knowles were killed. And on Tuesday night the Frank Karr flock of feeding wethers, pasturing on the John Karr farm, from which several were wounded a few days ago, was again attacked and five more badly torn.

Mr. Karr and Sheriff Darr again made a trip to the vicinity, Tuesday, in an effort to locate the dogs that have done the damage. Although the dogs were not positively identified the men state that they found more "good dogs" than they ever saw before in one neighborhood. It is evident that the same dogs made the three attacks, in view of the fact that all of the sheep are torn just behind the right shoulder.

Due to their isolated condition all of the wounded Karr sheep were to be put out of their misery [illegible] efforts of the Dunbar [illegible] to catch the sheep killing dogs.

AGED WOMAN DIES FROM EFFECTS OF FALL A WEEK AGO

As the result of injuries sustained in a fall nearly a week ago, Mrs. Maria Hull, aged 86, a lifelong resident of Coshocton-co, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Daniel Miller, of Layland, Thursday morning at 5:00 o'clock.

Miss Maria Hawkins was born in Guernsey-co, November 1, 1837, and came to this county when a young child. She was united in marriage to John Hull in 1857. To this union ten children were born, seven of which are still living. They are: three sons, Marion Hull of Tovey, Illinois, Alonzo Hull of Canton, and C Iff Hull, of Akron, and four daughters, Mrs. G. W Flowers of Macon, Missouri, Mrs. B W. Harper of Columbus, Mrs. Madison Shryock of West Lafayette, and Mrs. Daniel Miller of Layland. Mrs. Thomas McIntyre, another daughter, preceded her to the grave about two years ago, and two children died in infancy. Her husband has been dead nearly twenty-seven years. She leaves forty-four grand-children and thirty-five great-grand-children. She united with the Presbyterian church when young and has always been a faithful member.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock at the First Baptist church in Coshocton. Burial will be made at South Lawn cemetery.

MAID DROPS HER PACKAGE; SHADES OF J. BARLEYCORN

WHEEELING, W. Va., Nov. 15—A certain pretty girl, wearing a prettier fur coat, will avoid carrying moonshine, or home brew, wrapped in newspapers in the future.

She stood on one of the principal street corners one evening recently. The package under her arm gave no clue to the nature of its contents. A car hove in sight. She stepped from the curb to the safety zone. As she did so the package fell to the street.

There was a crash. Bystanders laughed. Then a strong odor reviving poignant memories of pre-Volstead days permeated the atmosphere. The girl blushed and hastily boarded the car.

CLASSES LIPSTICK WITH BOLSHEVISM

Professor "Sees Red" When Girls Rouge Lips in History Classes

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 15—Are lipsticks as bad as bolshevism?

Beverly Bond, professor of history at the University of Cincinnati, believes that the red of the lipstick is as dangerous to the study of American history as the red of Bolshevism is to its realization and that the battle of knowledge can be won without powder.

"The women of America of two or three generations ago, the professor admits, may have powdered their hair, but the women of today who attend his classes are not permitted to powder their faces—at least while attending his classes.

"Of course," Professor Bond told a class in American history recently, "I need hardly say that I am very much opposed to lipsticks. I want you to put on all the makeup you need, but do it before coming to class. I realize that it is a tragedy if your nose needs powdering before class is over, but you'll have to make the best of it."

Nothing is more disconcerting to a teacher, he said, than to try to store a girl's mind with facts concerning the American republic while her hands are employed in manipulating a powder puff and looking glass.

FORMER KAISER INDIGNANT OVER RETURN OF SON

DOORN, Nov. 15—The former kaiser was fiercely indignant over the ex-crown prince's unexpected departure from Holland and his arrival in Germany, it was learned today.

He had not been previously informed of his eldest son's intentions and was impotent with rage when informed of his return home.

The ex-kaiser immediately took steps to try to obtain passports for himself claiming the same right as his son. The former crown prince tried repeatedly to secure his father's consent to his return home, but the latter stubbornly objected on various pretexts.

FREIGHT RATE CUT IS FUTILE, SAY RAIL MEN

Canadian Wheat Surplus Too Big for Cut to Aid.

CAN'T COMPETE

Dominion Has Four Times as Much to Export.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Further freight reductions by the eastern railroads would avail the wheat grower nothing, because Canadian grain raisers would combine to have a competitive advantage in their preponderant surplus and in the inevitable corresponding cuts in rail rates which the Canadian railroads would make, according to Robert S. Binkherd, vice-chairman of the Eastern railroads' committee on public relations.

Binkherd's statement was in reply to the contention of Oscar B Bradfute, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, that since the railroads of Canada and of the United States make comparable rates for export it appeared obvious to him that a lower rate in the United States would operate to the advantage of the American farmer irrespective of what the Canadians do.

Bradfute is said to have declared. "The action of the railway executives apparently means that the railroads will resist every step taken to aid the farmers."

Binkhard's statement follows:

"The Canadian wheat growers must export about four-fifths of this year's crop. We have a surplus of about 90,000,000 bushels for

WIVES ARE ADVISED TO PURCHASE CHEAP CUTS FROM BUTCHER

National Live Stock and Meat Board Reports Extravagance.

ALL WANT BEST

Average Family Could Save $137 Per Year If It Would.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—The American housewife may be a beautiful queen, as Dame Margaret Lloyd George said, but she doesn't show much intelligence when she purchases meat, according to proprietors of butcher shops in Chicago. The National Live Stock and Meat Board recently completed a survey of butcher shops here, and, according to R. C. Pollock, managing director of the board, who personally conducted the survey, the butchers all agreed that housewives were not disposed to exercise economy in their meat purchases.

Pollock made the that assertion that the average family of five could save as high as $137.50 a year if the housewife were more careful in buying various cuts of meat. The cheaper cuts are palatable and nutritious, according to Pollock.

"When the butcher buys a fat steer or a fat weather and hangs his purchase on a hook one-fourth of it is classified as high priced, while three-fourths is slated for the cheaper distribution," Pollock explained.

"The survey revealed that in the well-to-do neighborhoods 80 per cent of the demand was for cuts from the choice quarter of the animal and that throughout the middle class sections the demand for these cuts averaged around 60 per cent. Near the stockyards was the only district where butchers sold off the whole animal at practically the same rate. Here the demand ran about 70 per cent for the more inexpensive three-fourths of the meat.

"Butchers are of the opinion that if housewives undertook to prepare the cheaper cuts they would appeal to the husbands' palates as much as the porterhouse and more expensive cuts."

SAFETY FIRST LEAP

Frank Miller of Conesville is suffering from a badly sprained right ankle, received at two o'clock Thursday morning when he leaped from a car in which he was riding with companions.

Miller noticed a car overturned at the foot of the Blue Row hill down which the car in which he was riding was going. He had visions of a crash, and leaped out.

The overturned car belonged to and was driven by Frank Jones, also of Conesville. It skidded in the sand at the foot of the hill and turned over in the ditch, but the driver escaped without injury, and the car was not seriously damaged.

Miller was taken to his home. Dr J. C. Smallen was called, and gave medical attention.

THURSDAY IS TWENTY FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OF FREE CITY DELIVERY FROM POSTOFFICE

Twenty-five years ago today, city delivery service was begun at the Coshocton post-office then located in the Selby building in the room now occupied by Swihart & Rice.

Three carriers were started out: George E. Neuise on the north side, G. J. McKee on the hill, and Judd Wright on the south side. McKee is still in the service. Howard Robinson was [illegible]

The entire post-office force now was nine persons. [illegible] Morley was postmaster, [illegible] Mrs. [illegible] Mrs. [illegible] McCoy assistant postmaster, Miss Vivian [illegible], and [illegible] Bernice Dunlap clerks, Joseph Krueger special delivery carrier. These with the three carriers composed the entire force.

Today 51 persons are employed by the Coshocton post-office. They are the postmaster, assistant, superintendent of mails, nine clerks, eight city carriers, eight rural carriers, two laborers and a special delivery carrier.

Annual receipts now are approximately $90,000, 25 years ago they were $19,000. Mail is now dispatched day and night, then only during the day. Assistant Postmaster Clyde Wells said.

Since that time the post-office has moved three times to obtain larger quarters for a constantly growing business. From the Selby building it was moved to the Frew building, then to the Herbert building, and on July 26, 1911, to the new federal building. Since the last move the business has grown to such a volume that part of the basement is utilized for dispatching in rush times.

The office is now operated in three distinct divisions, executive and financial, money order and registry, and mail division.

WESTBOUND PENNA LIMITED HITS FORD CARRYING FOUR COLUMBUS MEN AT 4:38 A. M.

Terrific Speed of New York-Cincinnati Flyer and Heavy Fog Blamed for Tragic Accident—Bodies of All Four Terribly Mangled—Were Employes of Pan Handle Shops in Columbus—Hunting Licenses Furnish Coroner With Victims' Names.

Four Columbus men, on a hunting trip, met instant death under the wheels of No. 53, the early morning west-bound New York-Cincinnati limited at a crossing in Frazeysburg, Thursday. A watch belonging to one of the victims, found near the scene of the crash, was stopped at 4:38, indicating this was the time of the accident.

The dead:

Oscar Norville, 29, 1465 Case-av, Columbus.

Lewis Coombs, 24, 118 Sidney-st, Columbus.

J. E. Turner, age not determined, 124 west Prescott-st, Columbus.

Henry B. Watson, 22, 118½ north High-st, Columbus.

The train was running at a high rate of speed, before daylight, in a heavy fog when it struck the Ford touring car, grinding the car and the men beneath it and derailing the front trucks of the engine.

The bodies were removed to G. W. Holtz' undertaking establishment in Frazeysburg. Holtz said all of them were badly mangled, Turner's the worst his body being removed from under the engine in pieces and carried away in a basket.

All of the men were railway shop workers in the Pan Handle shops at Columbus. They were unable to see the approaching train, as it was not yet daylight and a heavy fog made it impossible for them to see up the track.

The coroner from Zanesville was called immediately.

Passengers were shaken up when the train came to a sudden stop, but none was injured.

Westbound traffic Thursday was being detoured over the eastbound track while wreck crews from both Dennison and Columbus worked to get the wreckage from under the train and the engine back on the track.

Undertaker Holtz Thursday noon had not received any word from relatives, and it is not known

TODAY'S BRIGHT SPOT

To have a black cat cross your path at night is misfortune, they say, but to have a nice big black cat with a white stripe down its back follow you into the kitchen of your home is ruination.

When Si Fuller, Congress street resident (and that is in the very heart of the city of Athens, O.) went on the back porch to the refrigerator the other night, a pretty kitty followed him indoors. The sweet little stranger from God's great outdoors just pattered in and looked around, blinded by the bright lights. Si took a look and thought it was a cat. He took a second look and saw that it was not a cat. He took a third look over his shoulder while in full flight.

EX-CROWN PRINCE EXPECTS TO LEAD AN INACTIVE LIFE

Copyright 1923 by I. N. S.

OELS, Prussia, Nov. 15.—Cows and chickens are the things for his future politics said Former Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm in a talk with an International News Service correspondent today on his estate. Wilhelm characterized this as his very last interview.

"The ex-crown prince was in a happy frame of mind and said he was delighted beyond words to be back in his old home with his family. Wilhelm walked over his estates and chatted with servants. He found everything in good order, but suffering from the general wave of depression caused by Germany's economic and financial collapse.

"I am here as a private citizen as I have repeatedly said before," continued Friedrich Wilhelm. "I am not interested in politics."

"I plan to lead a simple, isolated life, devoting my whole attention to my family and my farm. It would be the biggest possible service to me if the press would leave me alone. I cannot make an extended statement. It would only embarrass me."

The crown prince was as happy as a school boy after a night's sound sleep beneath his own roof top.

He arrived in a big open motor car, accompanied by Adj Mueldor, his aide, and a political police official who had met the party at the frontier, as well as a personal friend.

Wilhelm's daughters, who had been waiting for him for two days, went out to meet him, hanging upon his arms and smiling up into his face. Wilhelm had difficulty in raising his arms to embrace his wife.

Wilhelm's room was filled with flowers sent by friends and neighbors.

As the big car swung into the castle grounds, the iron gate was closed shutting out a flock of reporters attempting an interview.

STORING CELERY FOR WINTER USE

Celery, if properly stored any time before freezing weather, can be kept until after the holiday season.

If the celery is being blanched with earth, mound the soil until only about 12 inches of the tops are sticking out; cover with 3 or 4 inches of straw and roof the straw with two boards nailed together to form a V. As the weather gets colder add more straw and litter.

Many gardeners keep celery in trenches about a foot wide and slightly deeper than the height of plant. These are dug in a well drained spot in the garden. The plants with as many of the roots adhering as possible are closely packed in the trench.

Old hotbeds or cold frames if properly ventilated and protected from frost and rain make a good place to store celery.

The plants may be packed in boxes or baskets and stored in a cool room or they may be placed directly on an earth floor in a dark basement. The roots are soaked good before packing without wetting the tops as moisture on the tops is apt to cause decay. A quantity may be taken from an outdoor pit and kept in this way until used.

DECLARES AMERICA SHOULD PROTEST KAISER'S RETURN

Senator King Takes Issue With President and Hughes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 — The United States government officially and unofficially, should exert all the power at its command to prevent the return of the former kaiser to Germany, even as a private citizen, Senator King, Democrat of Utah declared today, taking issue with President Coolidge and Secretary of State Hughes on this point.

It has been announced that this government will not protest the ex-kaiser's return, either singly or in unison with other nations.

"A return of the former emperor," King said, "even under a pledge to the German government to remain out of political affairs, probably would ignite the spark that would inflame Europe and perhaps the world."

King spent three months this summer in Germany and Russia

"While there is in Germany a general feeling of hate for the former monarchist," King explained, "there remains, however, the imminent danger that this 'man of straw,' if ever he returns may again figure as a principal in preventing the peace and harmony of the world

"In this situation it is the duty of all lovers of liberty in America to do everything to prevent the collapse of the existing government of Ebert.

BLOSSOM TIME MAKES MANY FIRM FRIENDS

"Something Different" Offered to Appreciative Audience at Fairbanks

SPRINGFIELD, O., Nov. 13.—One doesn't necessarily need a musical education or "an ear for music" to thoroughly enjoy "Blossom Time," the love story set to music of Franz Schubert world-famous composer.

Beautiful scenery, enchanting melody and a harmonious blending of good voices affords two hours and a half of solid enjoyment.

"Blossom Time," at the Fairbanks last night and again tonight, offers a striking contrast to the more or less monotonous "girlie" shows and musical comedy.

Schubert, at the age of seven, was placed in charge of professional music teachers. His talent developed and from then until his death in 1828, at the age of 31, he had won extensive recognition

Haunting Melodies

In all of his music he showed a gift of exquisite melody. He wrote always at headlong speed and his songs are fresh, full of color and imaginative feeling. Strains of Schubert's "The Unfinished Symphony" are repeated in "The Song of Love." His "Serenade" is given in the first act, while his "Ave Marie," set to a poem of Sir Walter Scott's, is expressed in "Lonely Heart," in the third act.

Baron Schober, Vogl and others characterized in the play, were his closest friends

Miss Elizabeth Gergley in the role of "Mitzi," the inspiration for Schubert's haunting melodies, endeared herself to her audience She has a pleasing personality and a voice of rare sweetness Joseph Mendelssohn in the role of Franz Schubert gave an interpretation of the part which won for him much merited applause

Madja St Clair as Bellabruna the fickle wife of Count Sharntoff, enacts a difficult role in a capable manner.

Humor Appeals

Johnnie Fields as Kranz, whose "ish-picions" are constantly aroused and whose love for wine of rare vintage, frequently injects into the play bits of humor which soften the more tragic moments

Capable voices interpret the various parts

Springfield audiences have frequently been termed "cold." The term did not apply to the audience which witnessed the production last night as it frequently gave expression to its appreciation by spontaneous applause

The acting is excellent. Singing voices are well adapted to the various parts, costumes are in keeping with the time, and scenic effects are beautiful

Time and money spent in witnessing "Blossom Time" is well spent —The Springfield Sun

MRS. STOKES IS GIVEN DIVORCE

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—Helen Elwood Stokes today won her suit for separation from W. E. Stokes, 73-year-old millionaire, who failed in his own efforts to divorce her.

Counsel for Stokes ran up the white flag at the very outset of the suit in the supreme court this morning when it was brought out that Stokes would not live with his woman even tho she won all her suits.

"Nor would Mrs. Stokes live with him any more than she would with a kangaroo," was the retaliation of Samuel Untermyer, counse lfor Mrs. Stokes.

"Then its fifty-fifty," replied Isadore Gainsburg, Stokes' lawyer.

The attorneys then stipulated that the separation would not be contested and upon the statement of supreme court Justice Wasservogel that legally a husband could not consent to a separation, agreed that Mrs. Stokes would present a prima facie case and the separation be granted.

This means formal testimony will be entered and the separation go virtually by default.

All other issues, the petition of Mrs. Stokes for custody of the two children, for $35,000 permanent alimony a year and for $2,222,— and as her dower rights in Stokes $30,000,000 estate, however, will be fought by the millionaire husband.

Measuring A Lawyer's Fee

A CIVIL action in a Rochester (N. Y.) court to determine how much a lawyer should charge for aiding a client to recover damages in a personal-injury case recalls the question once propounded to Abraham Lincoln. It involved the proper length of a man's legs.

Lincoln's legs were long, and the asker of the question wanted to embarass him. But Lincoln's answer evaded the embarrassment He decided that the right length was from the body to the ground So it might be said that the right fee is the amount necessary to secure the desired service.

This somewhat elastic rule works out fairly well in practice The lawyer who can deliver the goods rarely lacks clients willing to pay what he asks. On the contrary, the worker in any profession who overcharges seldom has the chance to do it twice on the same victim.

The Disabled Soldiers

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE, after the usual proclamation that the country will remember its disabled soldiers, went to Arlington to lay a wreath on the grave of the Unknown Soldier. He did this, says a dispatch, to perpetuate the custom started by President Harding last Armistice Day.

President Coolidge has another heritage from the Harding Administration that concerns soldiers of the late war. He came into office to face a gigantic scandal in the Veterans' Bureau and one that had been carefully banked and permitted to smolder lest the fires leap into the policical sky. It is all very well to lay wreaths on a soldier's grave, a grave symbolical of all those men who, testimony has recently disclosed, have been exploited to the last degree by men appointed by and with the advice of the President of the United States.

The general public may appreciate the act of a President who visits the soldiers grave with an ivy wreath but there are few of the disabled in hospitals who are at all taken by such formal recognition. It may be ugly to point out that the soldiers in hospitals have now listened to appreciations and gratitude for many successive November 11ths. and only now is the full evidence coming to light of graft and rascality among those who have operated in the Government's name.

Instead of renewing "its resolve to continue to meet its obligations to those who suffered injury from their service," the country might well resolve to efface the shame it has placed upon itself by permitting a state of affairs where "those who suffered injury" have been subjected to injuries more disgraceful and more cruel than ever were inflicted by this Nation's enemies. Aside from laying a wreath on the tomb of a soldier at Arlington, what will President Coolidge do in the matter of the Veteran's Bureau scandal? It was not of his making. Like the wreath, it was a heritage handed down to him.

Farm Angels Find Farmers Hopeless

THE noted banker, Eugene Meyer, and the now famous lame duck, Frank W. Mondell, were appointed by Coolidge to find out ways and means of helping the bankrupt farmers. How serious these administration salesmen were in their efforts can be seen from the fact that they have thrown up their hands in despair and cannot suggest any other remedy but an increased tariff on wheat!

Already on the basis of the present high schedules in the Fordney-McCumber tariff, the farmers of Kansas, Texas, Washington, Oregon and Idaho are losing about $400,000,000. To increase the rates on any of the products, such as wheat, would simply mean increasing the loss of the farmers.

No one should be surprised at the suggested "remedy." Mr. Meyer has long been in the service of the Wall Street bankers and Mr. Mondell has a record which speaks volumes. In his autobiography, page 431, Roosevelt pointed out that the conduct of Mr. Mondell was a bit too rough even for him. Speaking of a bill proposed by Senator Newlands (Democrat, Nev.) for conservation of the nation's resources, Roosevelt pointed out in his message to Congress, December 3, 1901: "My active interference was necessary to prevent it (the bill) from being made unworkable by the undue insistence upon states' rights in accordance with the efforts of Mr. Mondell and other congressmen, who consistently fought for local and private interests against the interests of the people as a whole."

It is just this class of friends that Mr. Coolidge will appoint to relieve the distress of the farmers and workers. Mr. Coolidge can and will appoint only agents of the exploiters These "relief agents" will relieve the farmers of whatever is still left to them after the last three years of depression.

Everyone has moments wherein he'd sell himself for a plugged penny and pity the buyer. About the cheapest moment in my life was in a department store the other morning. I asked the floor walker where I might find the carpet department He clapped his hands and told me to follow a clerk who answered his call. I walked for a city square and wound up at a spot where the clerk made a flourish with his hand as tho to say, 'Here it is.' I had the disappointed look of an inflowed church usher I had said "carpets" not "corsets."

I think the lady behind the counter was as much embarrassed as I I tried to turn it off into a feeble whoop and the laugh ran falsetto The effort to walk away with an easy non balance was not a success I looked as silly as I felt

Another embarrassing moment was years ago when I was stripped for life insurance examination The examining surgeon was called out of the room and following a cursory look I opened the door into a well filled reception room

Still another is recalled knowing I would be called upon to make a speech at a dinner I stood before the glass and orated punctuating it with profound gestures Across the way a group of girls in an office looked on and when I walked away applauded Away went my standing as a hero

ORCHARD SANITATION KEEPS DOWN DISEASE

Sanitation is very important in the control of many diseases of field garden and fruit crops, for it is seldom that we find a cure as we think of the term in connection with animal diseases. For this reason says Roy C. Thomas, of the Ohio Experiment Station we are compelled to give particular attention to the prevention of plant diseases rather than to their cure.

Rotten and mummied peaches and plums left on the orchard become a source of infection for the succeeding crops Observations have shown that mummied peaches under the trees may be a source of infection for as much as seven years Hence it is very important Mummied peaches should be collected and destroyed and if they must be found in the branches of standing trees the

Advised To Take Ocean Trip, Diamond Merchant Took Tanlac Gains 20 Lbs.—Health Restored

The name of John J. Perkins, widely known diamond merchant and prominent fraternal order man, 711 Euclid Ave., Cleveland, Ohio, now honors the long list of Tanlac endorsements. Mr. Perkins says:

"A gain of twenty pounds in weight and a return to rugged health is what the Tanlac treatment has meant to me and it has my unstinted praise. An ocean trip was advised as a means of bringing back my appetite, energy and strength, but Tanlac has met my needs at a cost too small to mention."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

CARTON'S

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

Almost every one knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago, the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

WHAT THE COLUMBUS PRESS SAYS ABOUT "BLOSSOM TIME":
"I urge you to see and hear the operetta 'Blossom Time' at the Hartman this week. Without question the most beautiful work of this kind that has been heard in Columbus in the last 10 years." —H. E. CHERRINGTON, Columbus Dispatch.
"It's autumn time in this garden spot of the world right now, but it's 'Blossom Time' at the Hartman. It will undoubtedly rank as the most pretentious musical offering of the season, and, as such, should not be missed by anyone seeking the highest type of musical entertainment."
—THE PLAYGOER, Ohio State Journal.
"'Blossom Time' proves a musical treat—beautiful, thrillingly melodious, sympathetic, gay—as refreshing as the cool of autumn evenings." H. B., Columbus Citizen.

Red Seal Concert and Operatic

		Double-Faced Number	List Price
La Serenata (Serenade) (Toselli) In Italian	Geraldine Farrar	953	$1.50
Madrigal (Your Tender Kisses) (Ormelingen-Chaminade) In French	Geraldine Farrar

Two of the most delicately graceful of modern concert songs, in clear joyous soprano. Songs like these, equally remote from tragedy and the cheaper kind of humor, are a discovery and a delight. They are finely sung.

Rigoletto—La donna è mobile (Woman is Fickle) (Verdi) In Italian	Miguel Fleta	948	1.50
Puritani—A te, o cara, amor talora (To Thee, Oh Dearest) (Bellini) In Italian	Miguel Fleta

First Victor record by the brilliant young Spanish tenor who is making his first Metropolitan appearance this season. An Aragonese by birth, he has met with immense successes in Europe and South America.

Light Vocal Selections

Mammy's Little Silver Lining	Vernon Dalhart	19168	.75
Memories of Virginia	Peerless Quartet

The silver lining to Mammy's cloud is a little black pickaninny. The song is charming. "Memories of Virginia" has rainbow vocal harmonies and "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny" appears as a vocal refrain.

Melodious Instrumental

Italians in Algiers—Overture—Part I	Victor Symphony Orchestra	19120	.75
Italians in Algiers—Overture—Part II

Rossini's jolly old opera, retailing the marital troubles of a fat Bey of Algiers, was revived at the Metropolitan Opera House in 1919. The overture, full of mirth and mischief, is characteristic. Here is a spirited record of it.

Dance Records

Oh Gee, Oh Gosh, Oh Golly, I'm in Love—Fox Trot	Garber-Davis Orchestra	19164	.75
First, Last and Always—Fox Trot

Now try a couple of dances to the Garber-Davis Orchestra, with its first Victor record. This organization has been touring the country, and making friends everywhere. These are delightfully live and chipper dances.

An Orange Grove in California—Fox Trot (from "Music Box Revue")	Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra	19160	.75
Dancing Honeymoon—Fox Trot (from "Battling Butler")	Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra

The orchestral methods of Paul Whiteman have many imitators—some good, some infamous. Here are more fox trots by this master-organization itself. Startlingly adapted to the various methods of dancing the fox trot now in vogue.

I've Got a Song for Sale—Fox Trot	The Original Memphis Five	19170	.75
Tin Roof Blues—Fox Trot

Jazz blues raised to the mathematical *n*th power. Mirth-provoking screams, first uplifted by a clarinet. Both numbers have the true Memphian blues swing and rhythm, and are unexcelled for "high-jazz" quality.

A FUNNY PLACE FOR POCKETS

"Oh, dear!" Betty fretted as she started off for school. "I wish we girls had pockets in every dress. I just wish——"

"Hello, Betty," laughed a merry voice, and Gwendolyn, the little travel elfin, hopped up beside Betty. "I was just going to pay a visit to a little friend of mine," he added, "when I heard you complaining, and wondered whether you'd like to go with me."

"It's the Best Pillow."

Away they sailed through the air, and when they once more touched the ground, Betty found herself in the Land of Cherry Blossoms.

"You needn't tell me this time where we are," she laughed gayly. "Anyone would know we were in Japan by the way the people dress and the way they look. Tell me, Gwendolyn, do the little girls have to comb their hair that way every day?"

"We'll ask Tutoosan," laughed the elfin, and he waved and called a dear little Japanese girl, who was dressed in a blue and black striped kimono. It was folded across in front and fell clear to her ankles. Two bare feet peeked out from its folds. Around her waist was a lovely, bright yellow and blue sash, which tied in a big butterfly bow at the back. The sleeves of the kimono hung clear to the bottom of her dress. Her jet black hair was done up in tiny rolls on the top of her head. Not one hair seemed out of place.

"No, indeed," she laughed when Gwendolyn told her about Betty's question. "I never would be ready for school if I had to comb my hair each day. You see, we sleep on this," and she showed Betty a wooden block about the size of a brick, with a roll of paper on top of it. "It's the best pillow to keep the hair tidy."

She picked up her sleeve and reaching down in it, pulled out a ball and offered it to Betty to play with.

"My goodness," Betty heisted. "Why do you carry that ball in your sleeve?"

"Why shouldn't I?" laughed Tutoosan. "It's the only pocket I have. Don't you have pockets in your sleeves too?" she giggled when she saw the queer look on Betty's face. "We always do. It's the most convenient place for them. I think it's not handy at all to have them on the front of your dress. They don't hold enough. See what mine hold."

Tutoosan pulled out all the treasures her pockets held and showed them to Betty. "Sleeve pockets are the only kind," she laughed.

Betty never said a word. She looked at her pocket on her apron and shook her head. Like magic, Japan and elfin vanished and Betty found herself back in her own house. She laughed as she filled her pockets, but she wouldn't have traded them for Tutoosan's if she could.

WORDS of WISE MEN

Men more easily set bounds to their gratitude than to their hopes or their desires.

* * *

We are sometimes as different from ourselves as we are from others.

* * *

To glorify the common offices of life—that is the grandest part of woman's work in this world.

* * *

It is impious in a good man to be sad.

* * *

* * *

Sweet is the breath of praise when given by those whose own high merit claims the praise they give.

* * *

What we call our despair is often only the painful eagerness of unfed hope.

* * *

It is impossible to love a second time what we have once really ceased to love.

* * *

It is not sufficient to have great qualities—we must be able to make proper use of them.

* * *

Truths are fruits which ought not to be plucked except when quite ripe.

* * *

The superior man will watch over himself when he is alone. He examines his heart that there may be nothing wrong there, and that he may have no cause for dissatisfaction with himself.

* * *

An idle word may be seemingly harmless in its utterance, but let it be fanned by passion, let it be fed with the fuel of misconception, of evil intention, or prejudice, and it will soon grow into a sweeping fire that will melt the chains of human friendship, that will burn to ashes many cherished hopes, and blacken more fair names than one.

MY HUSBAND'S LOVE

Adele Garrison's New Phase of

Revelations of a Wife

© 1923, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Madge Took Leila's Place with Mrs. Durkee.

EVEN as I inserted my key into the lock of the side hall door at the Durkee house I wondered where Katherine Bickett could be. Alfred had not mentioned her, and surely under ordinary conditions she would have been able to keep little Mrs. Durkee from the nervous hysteria indicated by her choked cry to me.

I spent no time in conjecture, however, but hurried up the stairs and into the room where "Her Highness" had surrounded herself with the dainty things she so loves. The little woman ran across the room from the window at my entrance and threw herself into my arms, sobbing convulsively.

"Madge, I can't go through with this. Send that doctor away. I can't see him."

Over her head buried in my shoulder I saw Leila, the tears running down her face and her hands twisting together. She shook her head at me in token of the useleseness of appeal to her mother-in-law but made one, nevertheless.

"Oh, mother dear, you mustn't say that! You promised us! Why, he has come all the way from Detroit——"

"I don't care if he has come all the way from the Fiji Islands," the little woman exploded with another burst of tearing sobs. "He can just turn around and go right back again. I won't see him. He'll want to slash me up—that's what those doctors and hospitals want. How would they get their living if they didn't operate? But they shan't touch me. If I've got to die I'll do it decently in my own bed at home."

Nervousness Aggravated.

"Oh, mother, don't!" Leila's voice was a quivering wail, and although I knew that her own physical and nervous condition was some excuse for her, yet I had hard work to find patience for the utterly futile exhibition she was giving. I saw only too well what had happened. For some reason Katherine was away. In her absence little Mrs. Durkee, who had kept up bravely under the tense strain of waiting for a final verdict upon her condition, had been swept by a brain storm which Katherine could have controlled in its incipiency, but which Leila, by her own nervousness, was aggravating.

I put up a hand, palm outward, and motioned Leila peremptorily out of the room. I think she was glad enough to go. Indeed, she scurried out hastily, but I caught an involuntary, resentful flash from her tearful eyes before she obeyed, and I realized that subconsciously she was jealous because I had stepped into the role which was by right by kinship. I felt as if I had experienced the glimpse into her mental workings which a swiftly opening and shutting door would have given me, and that perhaps her attitude toward her husband might be illumined by the same flashlight exposure, if I only had time to study it.

Soothing Mrs. Durkee.

But something more important faced me peremptorily, and I drew the sobbing little figure in my arms closer to me, and spoke in an efficient manner.

"Don't pay any attention to Leila. She's got this thing all wrong. You are under no obligation to see Dr. Braithwaite. He was recalled last autumn"—I was guessing merely—"and he'll come, but not before even if he has left specific directions showing him the village now. That will be a week at least for you, and by then you won't be half so nervous as you are now. So suppose you stop this shaking and crying, lie down and be good for a while. I promise you you shan't see a single soul except me, unless you wish, and if you desire I'll eliminate even me if by any chance you can't bear to look at me. That's entirely understood. I understand."

At my first words she had caught her breath in a sob and listened. At my assertion that the reason was running that at least I could not prevail on her to see the specialist she gave me a grateful look, and when I knew that my victory was certain.

"You are a splendid one, Madge," she said. "I know I'm an awful fool, but I just came over in the same way, all of a sudden, and I just went all to pieces. But I don't have to see him, do I, if I don't want to?"

She was like a petulant child, and quite now that sympathy would not have her, I stooped and kissed her tearful face.

"No, baby dear," I assured her. "You don't have to do a single thing you don't wish to do." And then, with a thankful heart, I heard Katherine's voice at the door.

WHAT is this trick of Fate that makes Pygmalions of us all? Hoping to make immortal the beauty and perfection of him she loves, she molds his features into clay. And as she works, the dreams and ideals most precious to her heart join to guide her hands. They form a chin more strong, a mouth more firm, and into the eyes place tenderness sublime, so that she finds the new face more nearly perfect than the old. "Will it take life?" she ponders. "Will it speak as did Galatea?"

Three-Minute Journeys

WHERE THE ONE-PIECE BATHING SUIT ORIGINATED.

THOSE daring one-piece bathing suits which were causing some people so much alarm at American resorts last Summer had their origin in Belgium at the famous beach resort, Ostend. This does not mean that the Belgians are wicked; merely that they had perfected a system of bathing which made for modesty instead of audacity.

Ostend is a sort of refined Atlantic City. It has a concrete equivalent of the Boardwalk, which is called the Digue.

are ruled off, and the space on the shore side of the Digue is filled with rows of beautiful hotels. As the hotel dining rooms are all on the ground floor looking out on the Digue, all have glass fronts; and as the wealth of Europe congregates there during August, to a pedestrian in the evening the spectacle is brilliant in the extreme.

But it is to her bathing wagons that Ostend owes her reputation. These are bath houses on wheels. They are built single or double, for one or two persons, being drawn up on the sand when you rent them. You enter by a rear door and as soon as you are settled inside a horse is hitched to the front end and the whole is hauled out into the surf. There it is turned around and you may step directly from your bath to an inner waist deep. For it is women, the one piece swimming suit worn by men and women alike were modest enough in intention.

The Parisian and American girls shocked the orient of the bathing wagon, however, by stepping into the deep water, and immediately swimming out the end and going under the pier to parade. This gave great advantage to the proper Belgian and Dutch visitors, coming from a country where a bathing dress was a flowered night dressing and where bathing was performed only as far as is known. Certainly was the first American to permit the Ostend bather a suit.

BOY'S STORY MAY SEND FATHER TO ELECTRIC CHAIR

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The story of a ten year-old boy was to be used today by police in an effort to send the child's father to the electric chair.

Harry Freundlich, in whose home was being held on charges that he strangled his wife in order to secure her $1,000 life insurance, to cover up his act put the charge for the father over a gas fixture from the wall of his wife's bedroom, which four of his five children also slept, endangered all their lives.

Freundlich denied the charges and pleaded to be allowed to testify in his own behalf.

It was found that Mrs. Freundlich died from gas and not strangulation.

It was not until Max Freundlich, the ten-year-old son, told his story that the father was arrested.

Police found Mrs. Freundlich dead in her room. Gas was streaming into the room. A mixture and apparently fallen from the wall.

Her four children, in bed with her, had been overcome.

"Early yesterday," Max told police, "My father came into the kitchen where I slept and woke me up. He told me not to get up early—not to disturb my mother. He said he was going to work. In a little while I began to smell gas and went into my mother's room. I could not wake her, so I called neighbors."

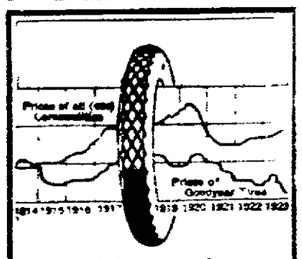
A GOOD PLACE TO TRADE



THIS little chart shows that for years Goodyear Tire prices have been kept below the average price level of all commodities. Goodyear Tires today cost 39% less than they did in 1914. And they are the best tires Goodyear ever made. This is a good time to buy Goodyears.

As Goodyear Service Station Dealers we sell and recommend the new Goodyear Cords with the heroic All-Weather Tread and back them up with standard Goodyear Service

"Yes, We Have No Push Cart Bargains Today"

The above caption, as you will recognize, paraphrases the much sung, played and whistled ditty of the day.

Not having "push cart bargains" at any time, there is never an occasion for a so-called "sale" here.

We sell for cash, thus have the money to buy for cash. We buy in large quantities for our 475 Stores, thus, as cash buyers, obtain important price concessions.

Our selling prices are fixed in the beginning to leave us only a fair margin of profit over the reduced cost.

The fairest of "sale prices" are no less than our regular year 'round prices. Save money here!

REP. PARTY IN OHIO LACKS CHARACTER, SAYS KNIGHT; DECLARES PLATFORMS BUNK

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 14—"The Republican party in Ohio rather needs a character than a candidate," Charles L. Knight, runner-up for the Republican nomination for governor in last year's campaign, former congressman from the 14th district and publisher of the Akron Beacon Journal and Springfield Sun told I. N. S. today, reviewing political conditions as revealed in the recent election.

"By this," Knight continued, "I mean to advance the idea that most essential thing to insure success is for the Republican party to begin to stand for something except the desire to land some fossil-ized tool Republican politician in the governor's chair.

"There is no blinking the fact that as we now stand we may be justly called a mere political scavenger, gathering up the hates, the prejudices, the desires of one group or another and using them to advance political fortunes. Our platforms of recent years have been the merest political bunk. They might have been taken from an almanac or the minutes of some 'sunshine society.' The great questions that mean something to the ordinary men and women have been slurred over with generalities that do not even glitter."

"We are going to elect no more governors until we bring forth fruits meet for repentance. We can no longer pass the buck. We can no longer take judgment by default. The demonstrations of our opponents may be—as they are and have been—most glaring, but when we are equally as bad, if not worse, the liberal and progressive spirit of Ohio Republicans will only manifest itself to punish our hypocrisy."

The remedies for these conditions, Mr. Knight put in two epigrams:

"Be and not seem"

"Do and not promise."

"Let us come out and say we mean to stop the advance of state socialism in Ohio, to cut out the boards and commissions that are consuming the tax-payers substance to disestablish the frills of delegated powers, to send back to useful work about half of the papsuckers that now hold state jobs, and put the rest to work," he suggested.

Other proposals to which he would pledge the party are:

1—Restoration of home rule to municipalities, by either abolishing the utilities commission or giving citizens a referendum over rates for telephone, gas, car-fares and the like.

2—Simplify city and county administrations so that present income will meet demands.

3—Consider feasibility of restricted sales tax as substitute for all taxes now levied.

"The final thing is to get right with principles," Knight continued. "I am not hopeful that any of this will be done, but unless it is done a cat chasing its tail will be a highly consistent performance compared with our efforts to jolly ourselves into the idea that we can get by with the people."

OXIDAZE

TABLETS

Made With Essential Oils For

Politicians—Auctioneers Clergymen—Lecturers Singers

Anyone who speaks or sings in public whose voice is apt to grow husky or weak from the strain, will find that one Oxidaze tablet slowly dissolved in the mouth before speaking or singing, will make a world of difference. The voice stays strong and clear and natural even during an unusual strain.

Thousands of people have testified to the remarkable value of these pure essential oil tablets, which bring such quick relief in cases of Hoarseness, Loss of Voice, Soreness, or Tickling in Throat, Bronchitis, Bronchial irritation, Bronchial Asthma, Coughs, Colds, and as a preventive against Grippe, Influenza and Pneumonia.

One small inexpensive package of "Oxidaze" tablets will quickly prove the value of pure essential oil in cases of this kind; if they are always kept in the house for use in cases of an emergency, they may save you many days of serious illness or discomfort. Wimmer-Arnold Drug Co., or any good druggist can supply you.

TALMADGE DESCRIBES HABITS AND ORIGIN OF THE PHEASANT

Mr. James H. Talmage, who owns and operates a large pheasant farm above Keene, has stated a few facts concerning the protection of different birds.

Wherever Mongolian pheasants are propagated to any extent, a great many are lost. Having always had man as their friend and feeder, these are not a game bird, and do not furnish much sport for the hunter. In states where they have been propagated extensively and where they are abundant and furnish sport, the first generation of birds are not hunted.

The ring neck pheasant is one of the most beautiful and hardiest of all feathered creatures. The bird is a native of the Himalaya mountains and the Tibit district of Asia, and abounds in sections where the temperature reaches the height of 120 degrees, and can stand a temperature of 40 degrees below zero. In raising birds of this kind, no protection is needed in a climate as mild as this.

The second generation, which is raised by the pheasant hen, is altogether different than the hand reared bird. They are not as hard to shoot as the Ruffled grouse, (brown pheasant) but have a better chance of getting away than the quail. None but a crack shot stood any chance of getting the old style pheasant, but without timber, this bird has practically become extinct. He can survive out in the open fields and requires a different habitat than the Mongolian pheasant, which is capable, with half a chance of being multiplied in this state in vast proportions.

KOHLER TO BE KLAN'S CHOICE?

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 15—Persistent rumors were in circulation here today that Mayor Fred Kohler had been decided upon as the Ku Klux Klan candidate for governor in the 1924 election. These rumors, however, lacked confirmation.

Mayor Kohler could not be reached. "He's at the dentists," I. N. S. was told.

His secretary, declared, "If people want to talk about the mayor running for office, I do not see what we can do to prevent them. I do not believe that he is a candidate for anything."

It was reported last week that the visit of Mayor-elect Charles F. Scheible, of Youngstown, was for the purpose of inducing Mayor Kohler to enter the race for governor with Klan endorsement.

NEGRO ATTACKS WHITE WOMAN

CINCINNATI, Nov. 15.—John Porter, 56, negro, no home, was bound over to the grand jury under $50,000 bond by Municipal Judge Yeatman. Porter pleaded guilty to a charge of assault with criminal intent, filed by a white woman whom he attempted to attack in her home Tuesday night.

Judge Yeatman also fixed bond at $25,000 for Charles Jones, negro, charged with shooting a white man during a holdup last Saturday night, and announced that hereafter heavy bonds will be demanded for all alleged bandits and annoyers of women.

SCORE OF AGENTS KEEPING EYE ON CINCY BREWERIES

CINCINNATI, O.—Nov. 15.—A score of agents of the intelligence bureau of the internal revenue department are here today to investigate alleged shipments of "real beer."

According to a report said to have been made to Washington, which resulted in sending the investigating corps here, 600 barrels of beer were put out last week by one Cincinnati brewery, for which $3,000 was paid by the brewery to keep the "prohibition hounds" off.

It was reported here that Mrs. Mabel W. Hildebrant, assistant attorney general in charge of federal prohibition enforcement, is to come to Cincinnati to assist in prosecutions expected to grow out of these investigations.

ARREST EXPECTED IN DAYTON MURDER

DAYTON, Nov. 15.—Dayton detectives expect an arrest to be made within a few hours for the murder of Russell Sonday, whose broken body was found weighted down in Little Miami River October 28, near Lebanon.

Developments early today indicated the scene of the killing was in Montgomery-co within 13 miles of Dayton.

On October 18, Sonday rented an automobile at 2 P. M. putting up a cash deposit of $20.

At three o'clock on the morning of October 19 the car was returned to the garage by a man never seen before. The stranger merely turned in the car and hurriedly left without offering any explanation or claiming any part of the deposit Sonday had put up as security.

The speedometer on the car registered 28 miles and from that detectives concluded the murder occurred in Montgomery-co.

When Sonday's body was found October 26, the skull was crushed and railroad angle irons had been tied to the feet.

STATE OFFICIALS GO HUNTING BUT NOT ALL FOR BUNNIES

They didn't all hunt the same game, however. Governor Donahey and his eldest son Robert, put in the day at a farm near Worthington, hunting rabbits. State Treasurer Day is up in Maine, shooting deer. State Auditor Tracey is in Youngstown hunting an elusive dollar or two of public funds that has strayed from the straight and narrow. Attorney General Crabbe was on his way to Pomeroy, and it was intimated that he was "going gunning" after something, or somebody, suspected of violating the law; while Secretary Brown is in Washington, D. C., helping other prominent Ohioans in a joint endeavor to land "big game" next year's national Republican convention for Cleveland.

TIVERTON SCHOOLS ORGANIZE PAIR OF LITERARY SOCIETIES

For the purpose of giving public literary programs during the ensuing school year, two literary societies were organized from the student body of the Tiverton schools, at a meeting held Friday afternoon, November 9.

The officers of the Athenian society are Lloyd Gaumer, president, Gertrude Smith, vice president, Beatrice Black, secretary and Rex Hardman, assistant secretary.

OFFICIALS BLAMED FOR INVESTMENT LOSSES BY WILLIS

BRIDGEPORT, O., Nov. 15.—Why the watchful eye of inspectors does not prevent such financial disasters as the Dollings smash-up and the collapse of the National Bank of Barnesville, which closed yesterday, is puzzling Frank B. Willis, United States Senator from Ohio, who was here last night.

"In connection with the heavy losses of Ohio investors through the stock manipulation of the Dollings Companies and the recent big bank failure it seems to me that both the blue sky department of the state and the inspection department of the federal government must be somewhat wrong or else such defections could not be possible," said Senator Willis.

"It is a crime that the savings of the people, patiently and laboriously earned, should become the plunder of those who seem to have no regard for their positions of trust. It is significant that within the limits of Ohio in the past year, there have been three failures of important national banks involving hundreds of thousands of dollars. If this is the fault of the inspection department, I propose to find it out. If there is a fault in the laws rather than in the administration of it, I propose to find that out and if possible to secure an amendment to it. It looks to me, however, as if the law is all right but that somebody has been gambling with the people's hard earned money."

ENTERTAINMENT AT WRIGHT SCHOOL FRI.

An entertainment and candy social will be held at the Wright school Friday evening, November 16. The following program will be given:

Song, "America."
Opening address, Cleo Wright.
Dialog, "Two Greenhorns."
Recitation, Sylvia Dickerson.
Dialog, "Unjust Suspicion."
Recitation, Mildred Wright.
Dialog, "Fanny's Secret."
Duet.
Society paper.
Recitation, Max Rusk.
Pen picture.
Dialog, "Preparing a Picnic Dinner."
Recitation, Larna Markley.
Addresses, W. L. Craig and Prof. Hayes of Newcomerstown.
Closing song.

PATOKA CHOSEN CHRISTMAS SHIP

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 15.—The U. S. S. Patoka has been officially designated as Uncle Sam's Santa Claus ship for men in the service in European waters, it was announced here today by the post office department. On December 1 the Patoka will sail from the naval operating base laden with Christmas gifts for sailors and marines overseas and will reach the other side in ample time for the holidays.

DEBS IS BETTER

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Nov. 15.—Eugene V. Debs, veteran Socialist leader, who was stricken with a heart attack late Friday was reported "very much improved" today by attending physicians. He was able to sit up in bed for the first time since his collapse nearly a week ago. No plans were under consideration for a resumption of his speaking tour, however, and a complete rest was ordered for him.

Election Can't Alter British Foreign Policy

LONDON, Nov. 15.—The election in England cannot take any steps regarding foreign politics the foreign office announced today.

Great Britain is thus unable to act upon proposed new penalties on the reported decision of the German government to stop all reparations payments.

WOMEN FROM FORTY TO FIFTY

Will Be Interested in Mrs. Hooker's Recovery by Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Paul, Minn.—"I was going through the Change of Life and suffered from a run-down condition and the troubles a woman has to go through at that time, hot flashes, nervousness and headaches. At times I was not able to do my work, but since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I am gaining every day and can do my work with more ease than I have for five or six years. I owe it all to your great medicine." —MARTHA HOOKER, 114 College Ave., St. Paul, Minn.

When women who are between the ages of forty-five and fifty-five are beset with such annoying symptoms as nervousness, irritability, melancholia and heat flashes, which produce headaches, dizziness, or a sense of suffocation, they should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is especially adapted to help women through this crisis. It is prepared from roots and herbs and contains no harmful drugs or narcotics.
